Buffalo Gnat Blamed for Pellagra

The buffalo gnat has been fixed upon by Henry Garman, a government bacteriologist and entomologist, as the cause of the mysterious disease, pellagra, which has been spreading in the mountain regions of Kentucky.

Mr. Garman has been conducting investigations into the cause of the disease in Whitley county, where the pellagra cases are most numerous, and has been aided in his researches by

Dr. Grim, a government expert.

Just how the gnat communicates the disease is not known, but both scientists believe they are on the right track and eventually will find a cure for the disease, which so far has baffled physicians who have had it under observation. The buffalo gnat exists in great numbers all through the South.

Several new cases of pellagra have developed in the mountain districts, but no new victims have been found in the three State asylums.

DEATHS.

—Mrs. Anna Daugherty Massie, aged 74 years, died at her home on Vine street Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock after a protracted illness of uraemic poison.

Mrs. Massie has been in declining health for about a year, and two months ago suffered an attack from which she never recovered. A week before her death it was realized she was beyond the aid of medical skill.
Thursday she was seized with convulsions and her son, Mr. Wm. C. Massie, and other relatives were summoned to her bedside. Friday she was conscious at intervals during the day and conversed with those about her.

In spite of her advanced age and prior to the illness which terminated in her death, Mrs. Massie displayed unusual vitality and was considered one of the most active of our aged citizens.

Mrs. Massie was the daughter of the late Thomas and Elizabeth Daugherty and was born near Millersburg. Early in life she united with the Methodist church but after her marriage to Mr.
W. W. Massie she withdrew her membership and joined the Presbyterian church.

Being of retiring disposition Mrs.
Massie devoted much of her time in her home. She was a woman of a charitable nature and readily responded to appeals in sickness and distress.
She was devoted to missionary work and for a number of years kept a missionary in the field.

In 1857 when she was eighteen years of age she was united in marriage to Mr. W. W. Massie. Together they went to housekeeping in the property now occupied by Mrs. James Early-wine on Main street. Later they purchased the property at the corner of Vine street and Scott avenue upon which was erected the home in which she died.

Mrs. Massie reared to manhood two sons, Mr. Wallace Massie, who died at Poughkeepsie College at the age of 21 years, and Mr. Wm. Massie, of Paris, who survives.

The funeral services were held Friday afternoon from her late residence at 5 o'clock and were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive. The remains were consigned to the family mausoleum in the Paris cemetery.

The following were the pall-bearers:
James McClure, George R. Bell,
Thomas Jones, Robt. C. Talbott, Chas.
Stephens, Charlton Alexander, W. H.
Harris and Col. E. F. Clay.

Small Boy and Man are Ready.

The small boy always knows when the circus is coming to town. Indeed he does. No one knows how he knows it. It is in the air and gets to him long before Dan Robinson's picture and the picture of the jumping ladies and the Nuimnd lion and the Bengal tiger and the big snakes from the jungles of India or Africa appear on the board about the streets. It certainly reaches him by a sort of wireless telegraphy.

Thrills of excitement and anticipation begin to agitate in his mind. The poorer he is the less prospect he has of seeing the big three ring performance, the more excited and agitated he becomes. Doubt as to whether he may be able to get in only enhances the zest of the occasion. He will willingly go to school through the rain and will help his mother with the housework every afternoon in the week if there is the least hint from her that the process will land him a seat.

The boy in good circumstances who carries the calm assurance that when the time arrives his way will be paid by his father, is secretly envied, but as a matter of fact he does not taste the full flavor of the circus spirit. It is the little boy who sells papers or has to earn his own money who knows the supreme ecstasy of exchanging the hoarded nickels for a seat.

With his boyish imagination he dreams about it before it comes. He is sure to be at the depot to see the trains come in and he follows every step of the pitching of the temporary camp with wide open mouth and eyes. The little fellow follows the parade from end to end of the town and back again, and to him it is one long succession of delights.

And when the hour comes for the doors of the big tent to open and the small boy secures a seat he is about as happy as the average mortal gets to be this side of the gates of paradise. It is all so real and so beautiful. The glitter of the spangles dazes his eyes and penetrates to his soul. To his young undiscriminating eye the marks of wear and tear on the green and yellow tights are invisible. It is all actual silk and gold and diamonds and beauty and dash and danger and strength and grace and agility and ease.

The Madamoiselle with the French name and Signorina with the Italian name fire his heart. The fact that the lady is on the shady side of thirty, has the features, shoulders and girth of a man, and could lick a blacksmith with one blow of her fist matters not to him. To the ardent, poetic eye of the youth she is eighteen, tender, graceful and altogether lovely. Many a man would give all he has to be a boy again—and the circus is the nearest he ever gets to the wish.

Paris, Monday, September 11.

Variations of the Kiss.

It is an act of politeness in parts of Germany to kiss the hand of a lady, but in Italy this privilege is allowed only to near relatives, while in Russia it is extended to kissing the forehead.

Poor Business Methods.

Short postage on letters and advertising matter sent from this country to Colombia is so common that a business man in Bogota declares he has been obliged, in a single year to pay nearly $60 in fines on such underpaid missives.

Condition of State Treasury.

The following is the monthly statement of the condition of the State Treasury at the close of business Thursday:

Balance in sinking fund, $191,466.04. Balance in school funds, $434,203.07. Deficiency in general expenditure funds, $347,504.26. Balance in treasury, $278,065.05.

Satirist Not Popular.

There's a great temptation to say cutting things. They sound clever. People laugh at them. They're interesting. Nothing is so absorbingly interesting as scandal. But of all the bad habits a man may fall into this will alienate him most from his fellows. If you are going in for saying bitter and sharp things about people you'd best pick out a desert island at once and go there and live.

Indian Refining Co. Suspends.

The Indian Refining Company, of Georgetown, announced Friday that the crude and light oil departments, which were shut down August 15 on account of the scarcity of water, would not resume operations before January 1, 1912, as a constant and sufficient supply of water cannot reasonably be expected before that time. Temporary arrangements have been concluded to take care of the work of these departments at the other refineries of the company. The lubricating works and the barreling and grease house will continue to be operated at full capacity.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves毫不犹豫地 recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—it cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—it enables Nature to repair the ravages of the disease.

Because—the records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

Drop into our store today, just to talk over your case with us.

No More Silk Hat Heroes.

The hero who wears an immaculate top hat is getting rare in novels. Perhaps this decline has some relation to the lessening popularity of the hat in real life. Certainly "Ouida" would never have dreamed of turning out a hero without his being silk-hatted or uniformed to the last degree.—Book Monthly.

No Discredit to Honest Men.

It is undoubtedly true that there are honest men who have been treated as cheats and liars, but it also happens that the ones who have treated them as such are the real cheats and liars.

Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about a cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good." Dr. Pierce's medicines are of known composition. Their every ingredient printed on their wrappers. Made from roots without alcohol. Contain no habit-forming drugs. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed By a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

Flanders 20 wins the 800 mile St Louis to Kansas City reliability run. Score 998 two points penalty only for loose nut on fender. Four days of heavy driving sand and mud. Flanders worked perfectly throughout run defeating Marmon, Cadillac, Hudson, International, Ohio, Buick, Parry, Mitchell, and Ford. Every car defeated by Flanders 20 except Ford was much higher priced car than Flanders and the Ford was completely disqualified.

Dealers and observers all along the line enthusiastic over the car's wonderful performance. Following three perfect road scores in Iowa's little Glidden Flanders 20 has won every event in which she has been entered the grueling 1400 miles Minneapolis to Helena reliability run the Worcester hill climb where she cut fortyseven seconds off the former record and now the St Louis to Kansas City reliability run. In every event she has defeated many cars of far greater size and price.

Chickens and Humans.

There is constant chatter while the pullets are eating—a flow of table-talk that would delight the heart of a hostess. But in the cockerel pen there is no small talk; they saw wood. Every fellow for himself, and the chopping block takes the hindmost. Oh, well, to each his own. And the pot has no need to call the kettle black. The men would rather eat than talk, and the women would rather talk than eat. We may as well own up. Suburban Life.

Superstition Inane.

Destiny has no pet dates—just as many fortunes have been made on Friday as on Monday and just as many men have died on the tenth as on the thirteenth of the month. The hoot of the owl is only fatal to sleep. To pass under a ladder is merely unintelligent—the inside is the more dangerous side. Your great-grandfather burned witches—you burn electric lights. Wake up! You're not in the dark ages.—Woman's World.

Air Needed in Human Lungs.
In one minute, in a state of rest, the average man takes into his lungs about eight liters, or 48.8 cubic inches, of air. In walking, he needs 16 liters, or 97.6 cubic inches; in climbing, 23 liters, or 140.3 cubic inches; in riding at a trot, 33 liters, or 201.3 cubic inches; and in long-distance running, 57 liters, or 347.7 cubic inches.

Diplomacy.

A North Dakota German farmer aspiring to fill an appointive office wanted to keep on good terms with both parties. At ten o'clock on election night the result was still uncertain when he was called upon for a speech. "We meets," he said, "to celebrate dis glorious victory. We knows not yet which way it goes. Hurra! Hurra! Hurra!"—Success Magazine.

Let Them Have It.
Fresh air is the best "dope" for the babies.—Chicago News.

Only a Cow-Coroner.

They were discussing a United States senator who had been a railroad attorney before he became a statesman and who, many thought, had not given up his job when he assumed his toga. "It's all rot!" said a man who knows the senator. "He never was a railroad attorney except to go out and try damage cases. Why, all that man ever was was a cow-coroner!"

Impolite to Auld Cootie.

In conferring the sacrament of baptism our old Scotch priests were accustomed to treat his satanic majesty with quaint incivility. The Latin was usually translated into the vernacular, and when they came to "Exi ab eo, in mundo spiritus," the unclean spirit received his command in the broadest Doric such as "Gang oot o' the bairn, ye muckle deevil!"

Simplicity Marks Mikado.

In ramen, as in food, the mikado's taste is simple to the verge of severity. At public functions he appears in his uniform of commander-in-chief of the army. In the privacy of private life he wears a frock coat. No imported goods are used in the making of his garments. It is his wish that he should be clothed with the products of the industry of his own people.

Triumph for Sandy.

Sandy and his master drove up to the small station as the train approached. "Here's yer train, sir," said Sandy. "That is not my train," replied the master, who had his own ideas about correct speech, "but it's the train I am going by." But it happened to be a special train and didn't stop at the station, whereupon Sandy exclaimed: "We're bathed wrong, for it's neither your train nor the one you're gain by, but it's the one that's gone by."

40,000 Splints a Minute.

A machine which cuts up wood to make matches turns out 40,000 "splints," as they are called, in a minute.

For the Uncertain Little Diner.

Thin, white oiled paper spread under the child's plate at the table and extending a little way beyond will protect the tablecloth. This will not be noticeable, especially if it is bought in sheeting and the pieces are cut and laid smoothly on the cloth. When a piece of paper is soiled it may be thrown away or burned and a fresh piece substituted.

Valuable Man.

"I say," cried the business man to the detective, "some fellow has been representing himself as a collector of ours. He has been getting in more money than any two of the men we have, and I want him caught as quickly as you can." "Ah, right. I'll have him in jail in less than a week." "Great Scott, man! I don't want to put him in jail. I want to engage him!"—Ideas.

Where He Was Safe.

"So you have adopted a baby to raise?" we asked of our friend. "Well, it may turn out all right, but don't you think you are taking chances?" "Not a chance," he answers. "No matter how many bad traits the child may develop, my wife can't say he inherits any of them from my side of the house."—Life.

To Reverse Woman.

The inexplicable, inherent and ineradicable habit of women of alighting backward from a car is expected by a Colorado trolley manager to be cured by the placing of mirrors on car doors so that the fair passengers will feel impelled to face forward to see if their hat is on straight before they alight. As a device for delaying traffic this will be a conspicuous success.

Hobo's Troubles.

"This is a peculiar world," sighed Harry the Hobo. "I've always noticed that the poorer cook a woman is the more likelier she is to have some cold vittles for me when I ask her for them!"—Toledo Blade.

Law's Dictum.

"Citizens eligible by law to vote—white men, black men, red men, drunken men, deaf men, dumb men, lame men, sick men, rag men, bad men; citizens ineligible by law to vote—minors, idiots, insane, criminals, women."—Bertha Knobe.

Don't Take Him at His Word.

Sometimes you hear one say he likes to be told his faults, and to have others tell him plainly when they don't like what he does, but don't you believe it. There's only one person can tell a man his faults and still be liked by him, and that's his wife. And even she would better not overdo it.

Pride in the Family.

Tip heard one dark-skinned citizen call another a liar, and looked around to see where he might hide when the razors began to fly. But there was no covering. Instead came this prompt answer: "Deed, I is a liab, but I'se de onliest liab in mah family, and yore whole family is liabs." Right there the argument ended.

Chance for an Investigator.

Wasn't it J. Y. Gould who laid the foundation of a great fortune by the sale of rat traps? If so and you have ever tried to set one of these five or ten cent affairs they sell in the department stores, you may well wonder why some one does not follow his example with a mouse trap that can be set without losing all one's religion.—Scientific American.

Naturally.

Boatman—Peter an' me'll not be able to take ye out fishin' tonight, Ma'am; but Peter's nephew will be after takin' ye av ye like. Lady—Well, I hope Peter's nephew is cleaner than Peter is? Boatman—He is, Ma'am, he's younger.—Punch.

Waste of Time.

Most men have wasted some time on planning what they would do if they had a million dollars.

PREPARES FOR TRYING ORDEAL

Beattie Has Long Conference With Attorneys.

AGED FATHER PRESENT

Jailer Permits Prisoner to Meet Cousin and Relatives Under Great White Oaks in Jail Yard—Every Detail of Case as Presented by Commonwealth Is Threshed Out. Reported Suicide of Accused Murderer Creates Consternation.

Chesterfield C. H., Va., Sept. 4.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., spent many long hours in consultation with one of his two lawyers, strengthening himself and being strengthened against today's supreme test when he takes the stand to plead for his life.

When Harry Smith, the lawyer, motored to the courthouse over the roads of the wilderness, Jailer Bill Cogbill, exercising a kind discretion, unlocked the iron door of the gloomy little red brick jail behind the courthouse and let the prisoner come out and sit under the great white oak. His father soon came to join them, and the brother, Douglas, who had on Friday rendered doubtful help to his brother on the witness stand.

All morning and far into the afternoon, the earnest group, with backs against the rough tree, kept heads together. By and by the lawyers went over every piece of damaging testimony that had been a part of the commonwealth's strong case against the young man. Paul Beattie's incriminating story of how he had purchased the shotgun with which the murder of Henry's wife was done; the sordid details of the prisoner's long continued relations with the girl Beulah Binford, whom the commonwealth's attorney still holds as a possible witness; Henry's own story of how his wife had been shot down at his side in the automobile—these topics were winnowed with infinite patience.

When the dark began to come Jailer Bill strolled over to the group, jingling his key. The elder Beattie embraced his son and he went back to the jail.

Reporters Are Disappointed.

Into the midst of this serenity had burst a hurly-burly of alarm. A rumor had sprung from the ground that Beattie had taken his own life in his cell at the Chesterfield county jail. The report spread from the Richmond newspaper office to the hotels where the out-of-town reporters were staying and a string of automobiles, carrying reporters, whisked over the wilderness roads at break-neck speed. The group under the white oak, with the calm and self-contained prisoner, nattily garbed in his creased suit in the midst, was what the reporters saw when their machines panted up to the courthouse green.

Arguments of counsel upon the instructions of the court will begin Thursday, according to Attorney Wendenburg, and Friday will be occupied by the summing up on each side, and the case will go to the jury Friday night.

Wendenburg would not say whether or not he will call Beulah Binford to the stand in rebuttal. He admitted that there was a strong possibility that he would decide to put the girl before the jury after Henry Beattie steps from the stand. Everything would depend upon what the prisoner himself states when he is his own witness.

There is no mistaking the fact that the prosecution is not at all sure as to what the girl's attitude would be on the stand, and that it will not risk having her turn out an unfavorable witness unless it feels that by making herself the defense's witness by a hostile attitude she would lay herself open to damaging revelations on cross-examination. Meanwhile Henry Beattie must testify without having the benefit of knowing how great or little Beulah Binford might harm him by her testimony. He can not know which of his statements she will be called upon to refute. He does know that from the mouth of Beulah Binford the prosecution has drawn much of the material that they have launched against him.

Say Witness Too Reticent.

It became known that several Richmond detectives are digging further into the story that Charles H. Kastelberg, the butcher, told so unwillingly on the witness stand. It is said he did not tell all he knew, but withheld some important features. Kastelberg was the witness who said that he had been out with a woman companion on the Midlothian turnpike on the night of the murder and that this was the car which was passed by two autos full of Richmond youths and mistaken by them for Beattie's car. The detectives who were investigating are said to have the name of a man to whom Kastelberg spoke upon his return from the automobile excursion on the night of the homicide. He has repeated the remark made to him by Kastelberg, which was in effect:

"I saw the funniest thing ever on Midlothian pike tonight. A fellow passed me at 50 miles an hour with a woman so drunk that she had fallen over on the seat behind him and he was half sitting on her."

The prosecution has introduced as proof that Beattie, after murdering his wife, had sat on her body while driving back to Tom Owen's home, some blood-soaked clothing he wore that night. The blood splotches do not bear out Beattie's story that he propped his wife up with his left arm while he drove with his right hand. If this story that Kastelberg is said to have told is verified more clinching of fact will be scored by the state's attorneys.

REYES STONED IN STREET RIOT

FIVE MEXICANS KILLED; SIXTEEN WOUNDED.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Maderists and Supporters of Returned Exile Mix Things in Capital City and Continue Until Troops Fire Upon Mob—Idol of People Quickly Shorn of Popularity When He Enters Race For Presidency Against Leader of Revolution.

Mexico City, Sept. 4.—Five dead and 16 wounded mark the close of a day of rioting in the streets of the capital, such as has not been witnessed since the last few days of the Diaz regime. The situation is serious and a clash that may take the proportion of a battle between Maderists and Reyes supporters is not improbable.

The volatile character of the population is shown when it is stated that General Bernardo Reyes, candidate against Francisco I. Madero for president, was stoned and mobbed. A few months ago Reyes, in exile because of the opposition of Diaz, was a popular hero. Upon his return he was acclaimed by the people as one of the saviors of the republic. He was an idol with what there remained of the regular army and with the troops from the northeastern part of the republic.

Later, on the principal thoroughfare of the city, he was robbed of 3,000 pesos and later stoned. The rioting between Maderist mobs and supporters of Reyes, with the latter in the minority, continued until the troops fired.

The execution in the closely packed streets was fearful. When the crowd was cleared away, five bodies were revealed stretched out. Some of the victims held missiles in their hands, others had been shot in the back as they fled. There were many wounded; how many is not known as they were taken away by friends.

BIG ATTRACTION AT CINCINNATI GRAND.

After winning distinction of being the only musical attraction to outlive the past hot summer months in Chicago, Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth in the breezy musical gaiety, "Little Miss Fix-It," will appear at the Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, September 3 for a two weeks' engagement, with all its brilliancy of cast and production that was seen for record runs in both New York and Chicago.

These out of the ordinary musical stars will present a something rather different from anything of recent prominence attempted in the light musical world. Their piece cannot be classed as either musical or farce comedy, extravaganza or burlesque, or even comic opera, but should be considered in the light of a blending of all these bright refreshing elements that go to make an oh, so indifferent, style of later day entertainment.

"Little Miss Fix-It" is said to contain a story of more than ordinary qualifications and was originally written to be played without music, which speaks volumes for what we may expect in the way of legitimate humor; and inasmuch as Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth have written and composed the entire score, or more appropriately the bouquet of popular melodies contained in it, it is reason enough to understand why both Chicago and New York endorse it as being one continuous round of laughter and songs; then again, as most theatre goers are aware of the fact, that for several years, Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth have been the recognized vaudeville leaders of songs, comedy and high salaries; in fact, these musical celebrities were compelled to cancel their vaudeville tour of 58 consecutive weeks, at salaries ranging from $2,500 to $3,000 weekly.

On account of the especial engagement for two weeks, Manager Havlin has arranged to present two additional features at every performance. One is "Turkey Trot," a most seductive dance novelty that is now the rage in New York and Chicago and even in San Francisco, where it has taken the place of the Frisco Glide. The other novelty that originated in Paris and is now all the vogue in New York, consists of a voting contest held at each performance for the selection of the most popular song composed and sung by Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth since their early career. This is a novel idea and takes on the air of an impromptu surprise.

The Bourbonites won from the Hustlers Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 0. Shears was on the mound for the locals and pitched to rare form allowing but five scattered hits in the nine rounds.

The Bourbonites touched Friedley for nine hits. In the ninth the locals bunched their hits and settled all doubt of the result of the game.

Shears received perfect support from his teammates, not an error being charged against the Paris aggregation. The score: Paris..... 0 4 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 -5
Winchester..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 -0

Batteries—Paris, Shears and Mayer; Winchester, Friedley and Meek.

Parisian Hurt in Race.

Saturday's Enquirer contained the following: The State Fair meet at Columbus was brought to a successful close today with three races. Two of the lots went in straight heats while four heats were necessary to settle the other.

A bad spill in the first heat of the 2 22 trot caused much excitement. Two horses and drivers were thrown and all were badly shaken up. H. D. Horine, of Lexington, Ky., was badly bruised about the body before he was extricated from the wreck. His valuable trotter, Jordan, was moved from the track on a sled. It was at first thought the animal was suffering with a broken back, but it responded to treatment and will probably recover. El Paso, owned by James Hukill, of Paris, Ky., was thrown heavily, but the horse escaped, although the driver received a cut on his head and several bruises. Judge Lorry Chattey and Harry W. Winkers of events in the early part of the week, returned and took the first in today's card.

Mr. Hukill arrived home Saturday, and is considerably bruised up, but is able to be out.

Getting His Bearings

Young Brooks raced down the long platform and reached the first sleeping car just as the train came to a standstill. He waited impatiently while a porter scrambled down and placed his step in position for the passengers.

The frown of anxiety on the brow of young Brooks vanished instantly when a slender young woman appeared at the car door. She descended calmly and held out her hand in greeting. She was blonde and pretty and wore a becomingly plain dark gray traveling suit.

There was an orchid in the button-hole of that becoming traveling suit. Young Brooks had a violent pang at the sight of the orchid as he thought of its possible significance.

"I had the most delightful visit in the world," the girl was saying, "but it was much too short. Two weeks is such a little while, isn't it?"

"That depends," returned Brooks, a bit crossly, "on how much you are enjoying it! The last two weeks haven't been short to me."

The girl looked flattered, but perfectly self-possessed. "Really?" she inquired, sweetly, "My the way," she said with sudden surprise, "I suppose father is here somewhere?"

"No," young Brooks replied. "I phoned out to your house yesterday and told your mother that I should be down here this morning, anyway, and arranged—that is, I asked to be allowed, to meet you."

"Oh!" said the girl. Her voice was entirely noncommittal.

Young Brooks wondered in a panic if he had overstepped his privileges.

Suddenly the young woman stopped and exclaimed, "Oh!" again, in quite a different tone.

"What is it?" asked young Brooks, with solicitude.

She laughed lightly. "No matter, after all," she said. "I was reading

"It Isn't Worth While."

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jinks of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

Passenger Trains Collide.

A head-on collision between two L. & N. passenger trains occurred at an early hour Friday morning a few miles south of Richmond. The train bound for Maysville due to pass through Paris at 8:20, was in charge of Conductor Speed Hibler. Engineer Saxton of the Southbound train was the only person injured, and he is not believed to be seriously hurt. It was several hours before the wrecking crew had cleared the track.

Wanted.

Good Housekeeping Magazine requires the service of a representative in Paris to look after subscription renewals and to extend circulation by special methods which have proved unusually successful. Salary and commission. Previous experience desirable, but not essential. Whole time or spare time. Address, with references, J. F. Fairbanks, Good Housekeeping Magazine, 281 Fourth avenue, New York City.

Purest artesian well water on all parts of the Bourbon Fair Grounds, convenient for the public to drink.

Change of Venue.

Montgomery county citizens will witness a spectacle seldom seen in the Bluegrass region at the term of Circuit Court, which began there yesterday, in that a white woman will be placed on trial for wilful murder. The case in question is that of Anse and Drucilla White, husband and wife, charged with the murder of Jase Deaton in Breathitt county several months ago. The case was transferred from Breathitt to Montgomery county by Special Judge W. C. Halbert, and is set for trial next Monday. White and his wife are now out on bond awaiting trial.

At the time the case was called at Jackson the excitement was intense and both sides feared they could not get a fair trial, and while White was in jail a special guard was ordered around the jail to protect him. Feeling in the case at Jackson seems very high.

It will be remembered Deaton was tried in the Bourbon Circuit Court for the murder of John Aher in Breathitt, and with the two Davisons and Hacker Combs was acquitted. Judge Halbert, of Lewis county, before whom Deaton was tried, will sit at the trial of his alleged slayers.

Season Tickets For Bourbon Fair.

Secure your tickets before one o'clock p. m., to-day, at the above places.

Base Ball Up to Now.

The game was called with Molasses at the stick. Small Pox was catching. Coal was in the box and had lots of steam. Horn was playing first base, and Fiddle second base. Corn was in the field and Apple was umpire. When Ax came to the bat, he chopped, and Coal let Brick walk and Sawdust filled the bases. Song made a hit and Twenty made a score. Every foot of Ground kicked and said Apple was rotten. Balloon started to pitch but went up in the air, then Cherry tried it but he was a wild one. When Spider caught a fly the crowd cheered. Old Ice kept cooling the game until Coal burnt him with a pitched ball, then you ought to have heard Ice Cream.

Cabbage had a good head and kept quiet. Grass covered lots of ground on the field. Organ refused to play and Bread loafed around and put him out. In the fifth inning Wind began to blow about what he could do and Hammer began to knock, then the Trees began to leave. Knife was put out for cutting first base. There was lots of betting on the game and Eggs went broke but Soap cleaned up. They all kicked when in the heat of the game. Coal was put out, but not until he had roasted Pork good and hard for his pigheadedness. Balloon went in the air again when Pigs began to root. The score was 1 to 0 when Apple told Fiddle to take the base. Oats was shocked, not having a grain of sense. Song made another hit and Trombone tried to slide but was put out. Meat was playing for a big stake, but was put out at the plate after being roasted by the umpire. Door said that if he had pitched the game he would have shut them all out.

Stock Show Second to None.
